_Essential Cases: Public Law_ provides a bridge between course textbooks and key case judgments. This case document summarizes the facts and decision in _Attorney General for New South Wales v Trethowan [1932] AC 526_, before the Privy Council. This case concerned whether provisions enacted by an earlier legislature could bind the legislative choices of future legislatures. It should be noted that this case relates to a dominion legislature. The document also includes supporting commentary from author Thomas Webb.
