16. Article 13: The right to an effective national remedy

This chapter discusses Article 13 of the European Convention on Human Rights, which requires the provision of effective national remedies for the breach of a Convention right. So, together with Article 35 (addressing, \textit{inter alia}, exhaustion of domestic remedies), this Article is central to the cooperative relationship between the Convention and national legal systems.
16. Article 13: The right to an effective national remedy

abstracts and keywords for each book and chapter without a subscription.

Please subscribe or login to access full text content.

If you have purchased a print title that contains an access code, please see the information provided with the code or instructions printed within the title for information about how to register your code.

For questions on access or troubleshooting, please check our FAQs, and if you can't find the answer there, please contact us.