22. The Fraud Act 2006

This chapter considers the offences under the Fraud Act 2006 and the important body of case law that now exists interpreting the 2006 Act. It discusses the common elements of the offence of fraud; namely, dishonesty (including the impact of Ivey), with intent to gain or cause loss or to expose to a risk of loss, and remoteness of intention. The fraud offences are each examined in turn: fraud by false representation, fraud by failing to disclose information, fraud by abuse of position, possession of articles for fraud, and making or supplying articles for use in frauds. The chapter provides extensive discussion of the desirability of having a general fraud offence and examines the difficulties encountered in relying so much upon the concept of dishonesty.
22. The Fraud Act 2006

abstracts and keywords for each book and chapter without a subscription.

Please subscribe or login to access full text content.

If you have purchased a print title that contains an access code, please see the information provided with the code or instructions printed within the title for information about how to register your code.

For questions on access or troubleshooting, please check our FAQs, and if you can't find the answer there, please contact us.