This chapter focuses on discrimination prohibited in employment. It first looks at sex discrimination, which, as it developed both in respect of abundant case law and of legislation, has contributed much to the development of the more general principle of equal treatment. It then considers other forms of discrimination included in the directives made under Article 19 of the TFEU.
16. Discrimination law: from sex discrimination in employment to a general equality principle abstracts and keywords for each book and chapter without a subscription.

Please subscribe or login to access full text content.

If you have purchased a print title that contains an access code, please see the information provided with the code or instructions printed within the title for information about how to register your code.

For questions on access or troubleshooting, please check our FAQs, and if you can't find the answer there, please contact us.