Course-focused and comprehensive, the Textbook on series provides an accessible overview of the key areas on the law curriculum. The Criminal Damage Act 1971 includes the main offences in English law involving damage to property. This chapter discusses the offence of destroying or damaging property belonging to another, destroying or damaging property with intent to endanger life, threats to destroy or damage property, possessing anything with intent to destroy or damage property, and racially or religiously aggravated criminal damage. The Law in Context feature examines critically the prosecution of environmental protesters for criminal damage, including the use of the lawful excuse when the protesters claim to have been acting to protect the environment.
